

carrefour piéton trottoir cycliste
rue piste cyclable feu vert
feu rouge automobiliste passage piéton

In the webdoc, Nabil cycles around the streets of Paris.

How to say it

Les clous = the pedestrian crossing.
Before white stripes, two rows of giant iron bolts driven into the road were used to indicate the place where pedestrians could cross the road.

Did you know?

Why are traffic lights red?

The feu rouge (red light) made its appearance in the 19th century in London. Red symbolises the blood of life and death. And it's the colour that catches our eye the most.